Thirteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time Year B

Entrance Antiphon Cf. Ps 47:10-11

Your merciful love, O God, we have received in the midst of your temple.
Your praise, O God, like your name, reaches the ends of the earth;
your right hand is filled with saving justice.

First Reading Ez 2:2-5

A reading from the prophet Ezekiel

The spirit came into me and made me stand up, and I heard the Lord speaking to me. He said, 'Son of man, I am sending you up to the Israelites, to the rebels who have turned against me. Till now they and their ancestors have been in revolt against me. The sons are defiant and obstinate; I am sending you to them, to say, "The Lord says this."
Whether they listen or not, this set of rebels shall know there is a prophet among them.'

Responsorial Psalm Ps 122. R. v.2

(R.) Our eyes are fixed on the Lord, pleading for his mercy.

1. To you have I lifted up my eyes, you who dwell in the heavens:
my eyes, like the eyes of slaves
on the hand of their lords. (R.) 2. Like the eyes of a servant
on the hand of his mistress, so our eyes are on the Lord our God till he shows us his mercy. (R.)
3. Have mercy on us, Lord, have mercy.
We are filled with contempt.
Indeed all too full is our soul
with the scorn of the rich, with the proud man's disdain. (R.)

Second Reading 2 Cor 12:7-10

A reading from the second letter of St Paul to the Corinthians

In view of the extraordinary nature of these revelations, to stop me from getting too proud I was given a thorn in the flesh, an angel of Satan to beat me and stop me from getting too proud! About this thing, I have pleaded with the Lord three times for it to leave me, but he has said, 'My grace is enough for you: my power is at its best in weakness.'

So I shall be very happy to make my weaknesses my special boast so that the power of Christ may stay over me, and that is why I am quite content with my weaknesses, and with insults, hardships, persecutions, and the agonies I go through for Christ's sake. For it is when I am weak that I am strong.

Gospel Acclamation See Lk 4:18

Alleluia, alleluia! The Spirit of the Lord is upon me; he sent me to bring Good News to the poor.
Alleluia!

Gospel Mk 6:1-6

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Mark

Jesus went to his home town and his disciples accompanied him. With the coming of the sabbath he began teaching in the synagogue and most of them were astonished when they heard him. They said,
'Where did the man get all this? What is this wisdom that has been granted him, and these miracles that are worked through him? This is the carpenter, surely, the son of Mary, the brother of James and Joset and Jude and Simon? His sisters, too, are they not here with us?' And they would not accept him.
And Jesus said to them, 'A prophet is only despised in his own country among his own relations and in his own house'; and he could work no miracle there, though he cured a few sick people by laying his hands on them. He was amazed at their lack of faith.

Communion Antiphon Ps 33:9

Taste and see that the Lord is good;
blessed the man who seeks refuge in him.

Baby Grace,

Dear Friends,

In these last two weeks the Gospels have given us an account of some of the miracles that Jesus enacted: the calming of the storm [Mark 4:35-41]; the healing of the woman with the haemorrhage [Mark 5:25-34] and the raising of the daughter of Jairus [Mark 5:21-24.35-43]. While proclaiming his power through these actions, Jesus encounters some negativity from those around him. Twice he is chided by his disciples: firstly, as they comment about his lack of interest and compassion in their plight as they face the storm on the Sea of Galilee [Mark 4:39] and secondly, as Jesus tries to identify the person who, amongst the crowd, had touched him, since he noticed that power had gone from him [Mark 5:31]. As Jesus faces news of the death of Jairus' daughter, he proclaims that she is not dead but asleep. To this those around him laughed and ridiculed him [Mark 5:40].

These rather scattered incidents prepare us for today's Gospel, where we see Jesus facing not so much a hostile crowd, but rather a group of people who cannot believe in him as the Son of God. The previous episodes challenge us to see that the role of the prophet can be one that can bring him into confrontation with others. Here we need to consider that the role of the Biblical prophet is not one of foretelling the future or making predictions about coming events. The role of the Biblical prophet is to be the mouthpiece of God. The prophet is the person who is selected by God to bring God's message to the people. We see in our first reading [Ezekiel 2:2-5] that he is sent on an arduous mission: to a group of rebels, people who have turned away from the ways of God and who need to be reminded of it. They are described as being 'defiant' and 'obstinate'. God has sent Ezekiel to preach his message of repentance and conversion to the people. It is hoped that they would hear the message, recognise that they have gone astray and amend their ways. But in this reading the author gives us a hint that they may continue their rebellion and not listen to God's message as preached by the prophet. The important element is that the prophet has been sent to preach the message: 'whether they listen or not, this set of rebels shall know that there is a prophet among them' [2:5].

The prophetic mission of Jesus is not deniable. From the very first words that he utters in Mark's Gospel we hear him challenging people to conversion. Jesus has come to bring the good news of our salvation to us, challenging us to change from our sinful ways and to break the hold of Satan on us. Today's Gospel speaks of Jesus return to his hometown. One would expect that a happy reunion and reception awaits him. This in fact is the initial response of the people. They are astonished at his teaching and wisdom. Then their questioning turns to the matter of his origin: they know where he comes from – they are aware of his parentage and kinship. Their astonishment turns to non-acceptance, due to their lack of faith. How different they are from the people we heard of in last week's Gospel: the woman with the blood flow and Jairus. This has Jesus pronounce those most haunting words: 'a prophet is only despised in his own country and among his own relation and in his own house' [Mark 6:4]. The mission of the prophet entails at times rejection and disbelief in the message spoken. We, as prophets of God's message through our Baptism, need to be prepared for both acceptance and rejection of the message we preach. The important element in all this is that the people recognise that a prophet is indeed in their midst, ready to preach the message of God in season and out of season.
